KIRANAHAAG
THE ART OF BELONGING

Kirana Haag brings to life on canvas what the eyes of the artist sees.

Her world is light and shadow and she uses her gifts to bring a spark to spaces and a connection to corporate teams.

For Kirana, art is a tool to tap into the energy that surrounds us and bring people together.

Her profile as an international transformational artist has a focus on belonging. In the corporate space, that focus helps team members collaborate cohesively with the spark that creative inspiration delivers.

Kirana Haag has been exhibited around the world in several solo and group shows. She has also been a finalist in multiple art awards.

The Art of Belonging is Kirana's signature corporate program - a unique process that helps create greater empathy, compassion and respect, with participants able to build stronger, deeper relationships that make a difference.

Your business has a beating heart.
It's your people.

Companies need to nurture their people and help them to connect with their own values and those of the organisation and people around them. Through art, I transform the way people engage with one another - sustaining their personal wellbeing and creating a positive culture of openness and connection.

If you are an organisation which values your people and understands the affirmative impact a consolidated approach to whole workforce wellness can bring, this program is for you and your organisation.

Every canvas tells a story - it can express and celebrate the journey of your brand and business and how your people feel about belonging to it.

The Art Of Belonging program is a process by which I work with your people to determine their own individual colour palette in connection with the company's core values and vision and mission. Each individual harnesses their personality and colours to create their own artwork on a small canvas - expressing the essence of each valued and valuable worker. After each person is represented, I develop all the original artworks into one statement artwork for your organisation. Once this piece is complete, I return to meet again with your team to hang the artwork. This is when we celebrate - bringing together separate but connected people who all belong to something bigger.

The Art Of Belonging is an experiential art process with a number of benefits including enhancing the sense of connection and belonging to the workplace and the colleagues as a team, boosting creativity, morale, and wellbeing, unifies teams which may be feeling disharmonious or simply a little disconnected, long-range stress reduction, bolstered self-awareness and expression, and an overall feeling of increased self-worth.

Art is an expression of an internal state
